19.—COUNTY OF ARGYLL.

I.—COUNTY BOUNDARIES.

There were three parishes situated partly in the county of Argyll and partly in another county (the county of Inverness), viz., Ardnamurchan, Kilmallie, and Small Isles.

The following are the changes effected on the county boundary:—

A. With the County of Inverness.

1.—ARDNAMURCHAN.

No change has been made on the county boundary which runs through the parish of Ardnamurchan. The parish remains partly in the county of Argyll and partly in the county of Inverness.—See further County of Inverness, Ardnamurchan, supra, p. 141.

2.—KILMALLIE.

The parish of Kilmallie also was situated partly in Argyllshire and partly in Inverness-shire. The Order printed at p. 14, while not placing the parish of Kilmallie wholly in one county, altered the county boundary which runs through that parish. Instead of following as formerly an irregular line through the parish considerably north of Loch Eil, it now runs along the centre of Loch Eil, and from the head of that loch it follows the line, described in the Order, to Loch Sheil. The effect of the Order, therefore, is to transfer a certain area in the parish of Kilmallie from the county of Argyll to the county of Inverness.

For details see County of Inverness, Kilmallie, supra, p. 141.

3.—SMALL ISLES.

The parish of Small Isles, which was situated partly in the county of Argyll and partly in the county of Inverness, was by the Order printed at p. 16 placed wholly in the county of Inverness.

For details see County of Inverness, Small Isles, supra, p. 142.

II.—PARISH BOUNDARIES.

I.—CRAIGNISH AND KILNINVER & KILMELFORT.

The parish of Craignish had a detached part situated at Lagalochan, a short distance north of the north-east corner of the parish. By the Order printed at p. 90 this detached part has been transferred to Kilninver & Kilmelfort.

By the Order printed at p. 92 the Kilberry district was transferred to the parish of South Knapdale, and it was directed that the remainder of the parish of Kilcalmonell & Kilberry should be called the parish of Kilcalmonell.

EXPLANATORY NOTES.

1. The Counties are arranged in the same order as in the Census returns, "so that a zig-zag line beginning at the north of Scotland and carried to the south passes successively through every County." The Counties have the same numbers as in the Census returns.

2. The subjects transferred are enumerated under the head of the County or Parish to which they are transferred. Thus when an area has been transferred from County A to County B, the subjects affected are enumerated under County B, and a cross reference is given under County A.

3. The names of subjects are those contained in the Valuation Rolls. In the description of subjects the term "farm" includes the farm-house and servants' houses, and the term "croft" includes the house. But where any of the servants' houses on a farm have distinctive names, such houses are detailed separately. "House" includes cottage, and "land" includes gardens, yards, &c.

4. The names of proprietors are in almost every case those given in the Valuation Rolls of 1890-91. It is therefore to be borne in mind that in some cases those who are described as proprietors may be limited owners only, such as liferenters or leaseholders.

5. Where villages or towns are affected, the names of the subjects and the proprietors are not usually given. The description of the area transferred is in such cases quite sufficient to show whether and to what extent any subject in the village or town has been affected by the Order.

6. The Ordnance maps referred to are those published by the Ordnance Survey Department on the scale of one inch to the mile. Those published down to this date (November 1891), show the Counties and Parishes as they were before the Orders of the Commissioners came into operation. It is expected that, when the work of the Commissioners is completed, revised maps will be published to show the altered boundaries, but the sheets of the revised maps will bear the same numbers as the present maps. The Orders and the explanations can be readily followed on the maps as published at present.

7. An ampersand (&) is used where a County or a Parish has a double name, e.g., "Ross & Cromarty", "Fetlar & North Yell."

8. In most cases it is necessary to read the text of the Order along with the explanation, because the full descriptions contained in the Orders are, as a rule, not repeated in the explanation.
